Cats!

My cat was having problems using the litter box. After years of no issues I was faced with urine on everything. Diane did one treatment and not only cured my cat of the issue, but my cat seems more relaxed, trusting, and able to be part of the family again. Diane told me that a workman had visited the home and had hurt my cat, either consciously or accidentally. I confirmed that yes, I had had a cleaning group come in after a party. I don't understand it, but I believe in this.

HOW DOES A SWAN SAY THANK YOU?

Richard Wiese experienced a precious moment during a rescue operation working for a foundation aiding and rescuing injured birds in England. He describes the moment as:

“Swans are usually territorial and don't like humans. I lifted him, gently pressing on his chest, so that he felt confident and safe. After a few moments, the swan stopped resisting and literally wrapped his neck around my neck. I could feel his heart beating beside mine. I wanted to shut my eyes in order to enjoy this moment completely. It's really a wonderful feeling when you sense a true connection and mutual trust when an animal realises you mean him no harm.”

We now have Quantum Theory that validates this work and proves what ancient cultures have known all along - that we are all one, connected and affecting eachother. .

The Body Code is like this too. I feel the connection to an animal, whether cat, dog or elephant and though hesitant at first, once they open up to me, the clear uncomplicated emotions of love and trust pour into me. It transcends any emotional connection I can fathom.

The communication allows for clear and solid removal of blocks, as well as provides insights into their life, their needs, and how to rectify emotional, social and physical pain or discomfort.
